British Golf Queen Victor Over Miss Stirling by 2 Up

Two Exhibition Matches Furnish Strenuous Day for Visiting Golfer; Barnes Forced to Play His Best to Win Over Difficult Course

Miss Cecil Leitch, British golf queen, put in one of the most strenuous days yesterday she has ever experienced in her brilliant career. She played two exhibition matches on the difficult Pelham Country Club course and broke even on the day, which was doing mighty well considering the

In the morning Miss Leitch opposed Miss Alexa Stirling, former United States woman champion, whom she had efeated in two previous matches, and p. In the afternoon she played against the Pelham "pro," Jim Barnes, holder of the United States open champion-ship. In this struggle she was beaten of the United States open championship. In this struggle she was beaten by 3 and 1.

In playing against Barnes Miss Leitch had a handicap of six bisques, a considerable margin for one of Miss Leitch ability. It was first planned to give Miss Leitch a handicap of a half stroke a hole, or a total of nine strokes. This is the basis on which the English girl has played many of the British professionals, including the hard-hitting Abe Mitchell. It is reported that Mitchell was the only professional able to defeat her on this margin.

Names Own Handlcap

Miss Leitch was allowed to name her own handicap against Long Jim. She stated she would consider six bisques a fair handicap that in reality she had a better handicap than she would have had add she accepted nine strokes.

"I'll have to travel some to beat her now," said Barnes, just before the match started. And the big fellow had to do just that. He played the best yolf that has ever been shown en the Felham course and yet was able to win only by a score of 3 and 1. At the turn Miss Leitch was on even terms with Barnes and at that point she had ased only two of the six bisques.

But on the return trip Barnes played some of the finest golf he has ever shown. He came back in thirty-two strokes, five under par, and considering the lay-out and the condition of the turf one wonders how the champion ever succeeded in making such a remarkable score. His tally for the round was 68, which is by fur the best score ever made at Pelham. Until yesterday nobody had been able to do better than 72.

Miss Leitch had an approximate score of 83, which represented superb golf. Few men can go around Pelham to do a 7 for the hole. She squared many of the shot bisques at the point of the bar of the hole. She squared many of the hole. The troop of the star bisque on this bar of the best shots of the day, but had been able to do better than 72.

golf. Few men can go around Pelham in that score. It was a dazzling exhibition and thrilled the large gallery which turned out to see the play.

On the first hole Miss Leitch in playing an approach shot to the green pitched far across and went out of bounds. Her next shot caught a trap and she conceded the hole. On the second she had a fine drive and had a putt for a bird three, but missed tenth hole a six-footer here.

Miss Stirling won back her advantage on the fifth with a par five, but lost it again on the sixth hole. The American won the seventh with two perfect shots and made the turn one up. At the ninth Miss Stirling got a half in four by playing a perfect second through the trees to within six feet of the pin. Miss Leitch won the eleventh with a good four, getting a perfect drive and a fine second to the green. Miss Stirling took three putts on the thirteenth and lost the hole, being out of bounds with his rive. Both had splendid tee shots to be downhill short fourth and halved in 3.

Earnes got a 3 at the fifth, while Miss Earnes got a 3 at the fifth, while Miss Earnes won even footing once more.

Barnes got a 3 at the fifth, while Miss Leitch was taking a 4. Miss Leitch took her second bisque here, so that she was still on even terms. Then she went the sixth hole and took the lead. Here she had two grand shots to the green. They halved the next two holes and at the ninth Miss Leitch, who is inclined to be erractic on the greens, took three putts and lost the hole. At the tenth she hooked her drive and was forced to play from behind the trees. Her ball struck the bank and rolled on to the green. Miss Stirling was on the green in two but took three putts, and lost the hole and the match.

Kerr, Van Vleck, Armour and Worthington Qualify for the Semi-Final Round

No upsets were recorded as a result of the first and second rounds of match play in the invitation tournament at the Engineers' Country Club yesterday. Those who remain to fight it out in the semi-final this morning are F. M. Kerr. of Merrimac Valley; C. E. Van Vleck jr., Pine Valley; Thomas Armour, of Scotland. and J. S. Worthington, the Westchester County champion.

Armour won both his matches by comfortable margins, defeating L. A. Wilson, Forest Hill, in the afternoon and eliminating A. M. Brown, of the National Links, in the morning. Against the last named. Armour went round in 76, good enough to win for him the qualifying medal. It will be recalled that the Scot and Frank H. Hoyt, of the home club, tied for the medal on Thursday, and the play-off was decided coincident with their matches yesterday morning. The best Hoyt could get was about an 86, which put him out of the running.

F. M. Kerr, of Merrimac Valley, did the unexpected by defeating Hoyt after an extra hole match. The veteran practically had the contest within the hollow of his hand, standing 2 up with three holes to play. Then he proceeded to lose the sixteenth and seventeenth, so that they were all square going to the home hole. There Hoyt had a chance to win, but he missed a weeput, so that the best he could get was a half. Kerr clinched matters at the nineteenth.

The Merrimac Valley golfer kept up the good work by winning in the afternoon from F. B. Porter, of Forest Hill, 3 and 2. The last named had made his way to the second round by eliminating Don Parker, one of the best of the Garden City golfers.

Another extra hole match resulted from the meeting of Van Vleck and Roy Webb, of Englewood, in the second round. Van Vleck had played at his best in the morning to defeat A. Leopold, of Woodmere, 8 and 7, while Webb had beaten Morton Feary, of Garden City, 4 and 3.
